A Welcome Wave

Author of Future Shock, Alvin Toffler, divided the history of man into what he called waves of civilizational change. The First Wave lasted for thousands of years and was agricultural. By the 1700's, the Second Wave was gaining momentum and was characterized by an industrial society. At the end of World War II, this wave crested and the Third Wave began. What is this Third Wave? This new wave extends beyond the "PUNKERS" and the "FUNKERS," beyond a style of dressing. It is the Information Age — the High Tech Era.

A wave is about movement, an engulfing kind of movement. Each wave collides and overtakes the preceding wave. Each develops its own political, economic, social, and cultural values. This Third Wave, this NEW WAVE, is now gaining its momentum as it sweeps the nation, the world. Fredericksburg mirrors this movement. And . . . James Monroe mirrors Fredericksburg. James Monroe is entering, is being engulfed by, is preparing for the HIGH TECH ERA — THE NEW WAVE.

Concretely, this translates into change — change to meet the educational needs dictated by this WAVE:

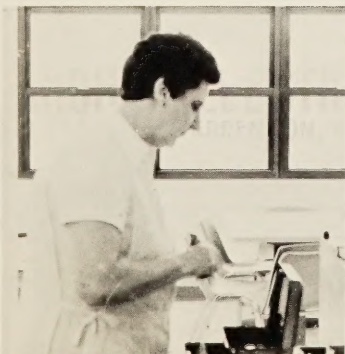

- A new superintendent—Mr. J. Richard Garnett
- New Jayem administrators—Mr. Stan Durtan and Mr. Richard Griffin
- A completely renovated building
- The addition of 8th graders
- Preparation for annexation
- A modern, up-dated library with a career resource room
- Emphasis on computer education
- Advanced Placement courses for possible college credit
- German
- A gifted program based on individual student need
- Increase in credits needed for graduation
- Prioritizing the role of extra-curricular activities
- Lunch waves.
- Sweat suits and T-shirts

“The children you spit on as you try to change their world,
Are immune to your consultation,
But you’re quite aware of what they’re going through
Turn and face the strange
CH-CH-CH-CHANGES.”

David Bowie

MARCHING, cooking, debating bills, researching, thinking, typing — students at James Monroe in 1984 were active. Mrs. Blackmon, Mrs. Clark, Mr. Garnett, Mr. Durtan, Mr. Hall, and Mrs. Gracik helped keep the school running smoothly — some of these people were new faces or faces in new places. From the Class of 1984 to the Class of 1988 books were bought, new pencils sharpened, bells followed, LUNCH WAVES flowed, seven periods worked through, homework done, day ended — a new day waited.

KIM STANDERWICK makes her way down the hall dancing to the music after a hard day's work.

SOPHIE WHITESIDE AND AMY DOWNER discuss upcoming games with junior varsity coach Ms. Bowman before practice.

KURT MOELLER AND CHRIS GEORGE check out their lockers for the first time this school year.

Opening Day Joy

Would you believe it??? Carpeting on the floor made sitting comfy. Freshly painted red lockers made combination learning palatable. On top of that, no scaffolding to step around in the hallways made navigation easy. OPENING DAY, as ever, was indeed a surprise, but a delightful surprise. James Monroe's renovation had been going on for three years and on opening day we could finally see the proverbial "Light at the end of the tunnel." By November, painting touches had dried, welding stopped, caution signs were removed. A few challenges remained as students still searched for strangely sequenced room numbers and rapidly responded to repetitious fire drills. All in all the seniors had lots to smile about as they "watched the birdie," for their senior portraits.

SENIOR PORTRAITS are snapped before school started in August. Dan Fingerhut, Robert Owens, and Sarah Lanford wait their turn.

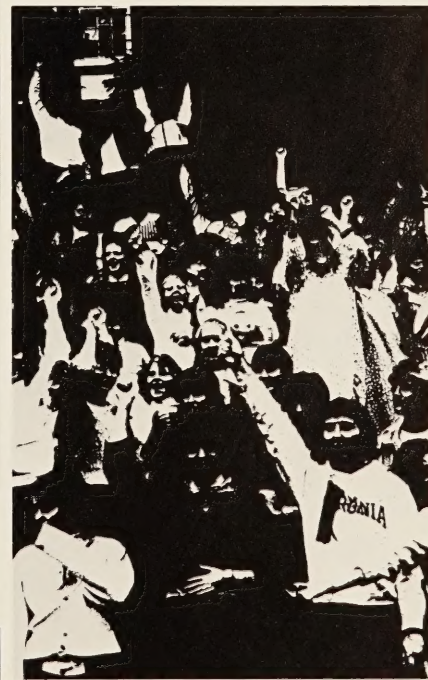

ON THE FIRST day of school, Mona Grant, Susan Garnett, and James Christopher search for their classes after the renovation.

Spirit's Up

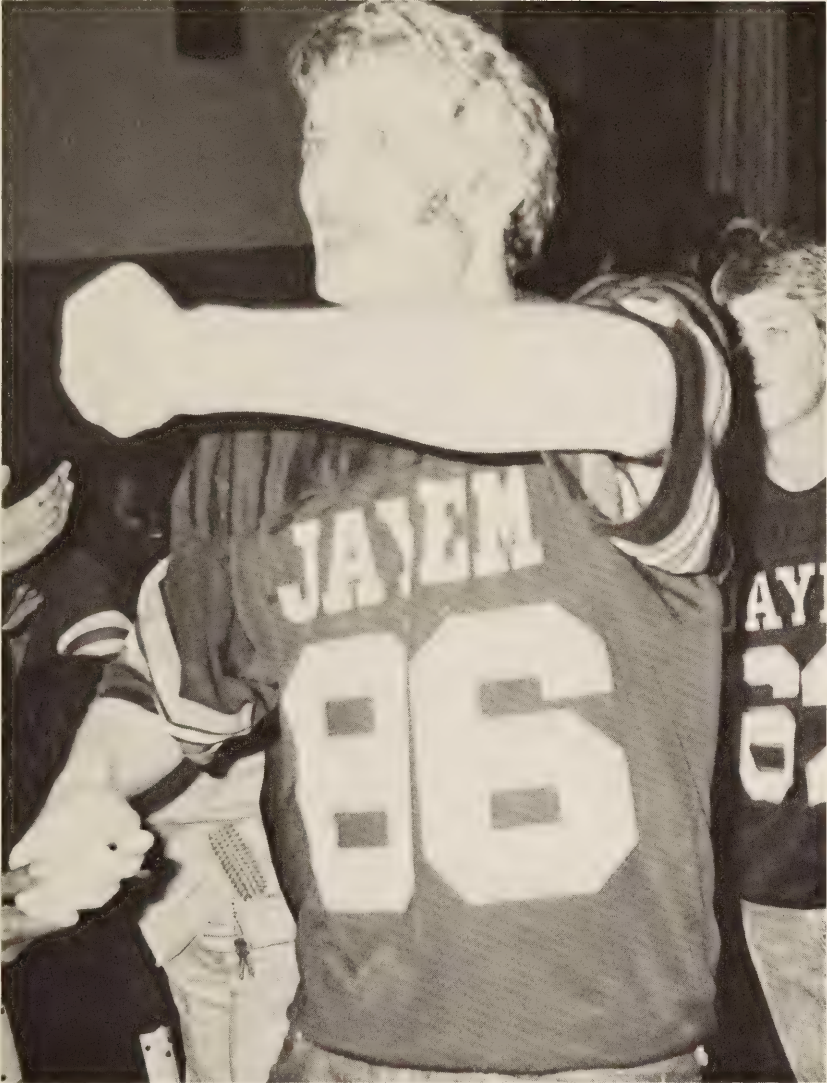

School spirit hung heavy in the air. Banners lived in every hallway. Orange and black shirts and scarves and caps adorned the energized bodies. For the first time in a long time the Alma Mater reverberated through the auditorium. The spirit had returned. It felt like a new day—a new wave! It was a feeling of believing in one's self. A feeling of loyalty and team work. A feeling that Jayem is indeed alive and well, a feeling of pride. At this pep rally we felt like true contenders going after the state-champion Courtland Cougars with all our hearts. Spiritman Serbay pumped us up with poetry. Juniors were joyous with a winning spirit-link chain. Chants and cheers and pulsating drum beats fueled the fire.

And when the smoke had cleared, the champions were still undefeated. But . . . no matter. The seed had been planted: we had believed in ourselves with all our hearts and the belief had taken root. For the remainder of the year, we nurtured this belief.

The UNDEFEATED Jackets display their enthusiasm at the pep rally before the Courtland game.

LANCE MITCHELL was a major contributor to sting of Jayem's football team.

After signing spirit banners, MICHAEL O'MALLEY and KIRK EDWARDS take a break.

Our HIGH hopes for beating state champs Courtland were shattered, but spirits remained high. If only MICHELLE EDWARDS' spirit were contagious.

THE COMPUTER REVOLUTION has captured Scott Hollen, Steve Cooper, and Valerie Boutchyard.

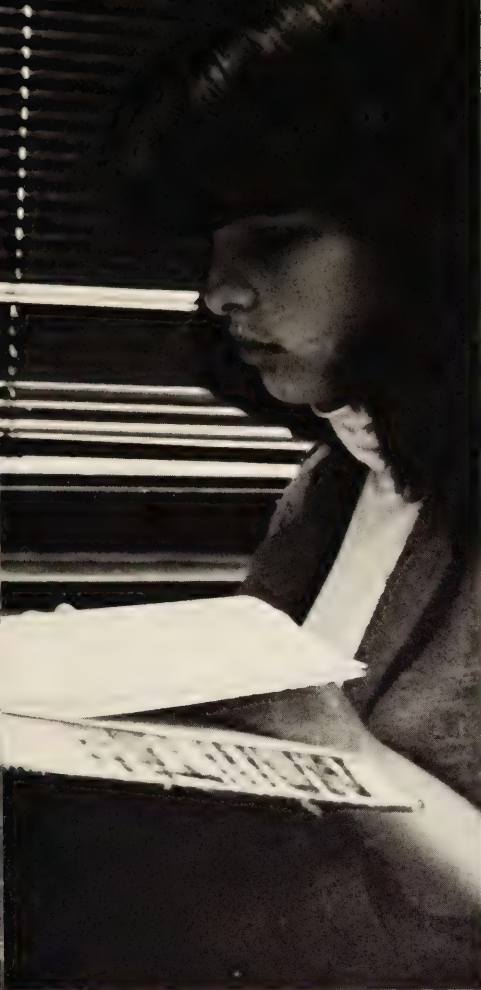

HANDS ON

Tell me, I forget;
Show me, I understand;
Involve me, I remember.

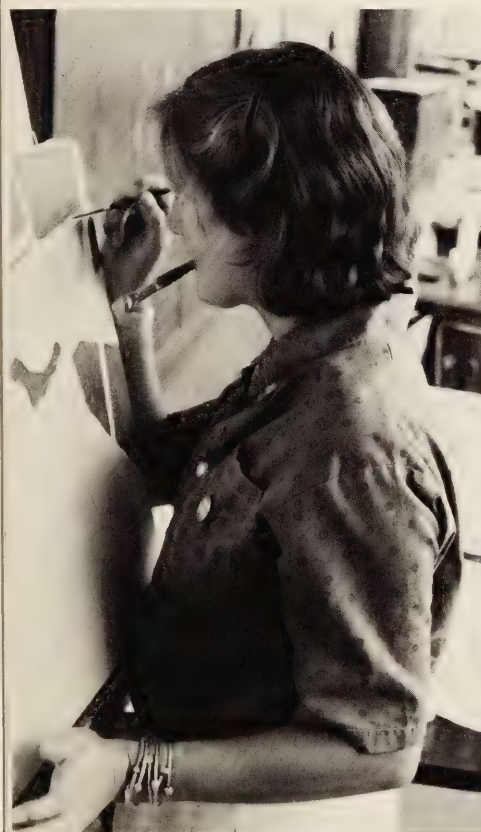

These students are actively involved in their learning experiences. A new wave in education dictates a "hands on" approach to instruction — from computers to art to electricity. Yet "hands on" may simply require turning a page and supporting a chin (perpetuating the "Thinker").

TOM RHODEMYRE and Wayne Searles help their student teacher, Ms. Hardnett, learn.

NOVELLA PATILLO, Bonnie Pettus, and Anna Der-eich listen intently while a drama exercise is criti-qued.

INDIA WHITESIDE and Bill Folan talk it over; Joey Mastin and Anne-Marie Tracey smile and enjoy.

Prom 1983

As the new wave swept the country, it definitely wiped out traditional names for musical groups. In its wake we found such illustrious titles as "ZAPP" and "GAPP," "DAZZ" and "YAZ," "MEN FROM DOWN UNDER," "THE TALKING HEADS," "THE JONZUN CREW," "GRAND MASTER FLASH AND THE FURIOUS FIVE," "XTC," "VANITY SIX," "MISSING PERSONS," "QUIET RIOT," "JOHNNY SPORTCOAT AND THE CASUALS," "NTUME," "THE FOUR SKINS," "SIOUXIE AND THE BAN-SHEES," and "ATTITUDE X-CHANGE." Jayem's prom 1983 was ignited by "TROUBLE FUNK." Those musical men were right here in River City — Fredericksburg!

Dream On

Sweet dreams of youth, of money, of heaven made this year's Homecoming theme come alive! Though the sun decided not to participate, the "dreams" were illuminated with bright smiles, happy waves, and warm hearts. This kind of excitement prevailed and greeted all who returned home to share in the annual ritual.

Police stopped traffic on Washington Avenue on October 21st for borrowed trucks, flat beds, and convertibles fluffed up with tissue and crepe paper. First prize winner, the GAA float, contained their nightgowned members. Second-prize winner, The Silver Strings, were ready to make heavenly music. Mr. Calloway whipped his cross country team into shape as they jogged down Washington Avenue to the Pep Rally at Maury Stadium.

THREE OF THE SILVER STRING'S angels (complete with halos) enjoy their float ride. The "angels" are Rodney McMillon, Curtis Jackson, and Fred White.

BETTY GORDON, HOMECOMING COORDINATOR, successfully gets the parade underway. It was a day of threatening rain that stayed clear.

JAMIE CAMPBELL AND PENNY CANNON pose on the "D. E. Dreams" car.

"STANDING ROOM ONLY" making a dazzling entrance, while students look on enthusiastically.

James Monroe's 1983 Homecoming game was played Friday October 21 against Culpeper. Even though the Yellow Jackets were defeated 8-2, Homecoming weekend was one of the school year's highlights.

Friday during the day, the floats for the parade slowly came together in the baseball diamond and the field beyond it. Under Mrs. Gordon's supervision, the floats were ready by 2:00, and by 2:15, the parade was underway. Winning prizes in the parade were the International Thespians, Silver Strings, and GAA.

The Jackets played a mean game of football that night, but not mean enough. Culpeper's shrewd maneuvers and fast plays were too much for our defense—and consequently we lost. But morale was kept high throughout the weekend.

At half-time, Mr. Durtan crowned seniors Gary Richardson and Ann Robb Smith King and Queen, and the rest of the Homecoming Court was recognized also. Saturday night, the Yellow Jackets rocked with Standing Room Only at MWC's Anne Carter Lee Ballroom. Rain put a slight damper on the evening, but everyone seemed to enjoy the dance nonetheless.

Some J.M. STUDENTS rest while observing "Standing Room Only." It seemed to be an enjoyable evening for most.

Communications. What does the future hold? One universal spoken language? Disc antennae in every front yard? Hologrammic telephones? Scent-o-rama? Twenty-four hour a day TV programming on no less than one hundred stations?

1984 brought the demise of AT&T. 1984 brought the uprise of MCI, personalized computers, and word processors. MTV replaced Solid Gold. Cable lines were installed all over Fredericksburg.

Regardless of our futuristic dreams and our present day experiences, communications in 1984 was and perhaps always will be more visual than oral/aural. Researchers said that when one person communicates with another, only 30% of the message is received by verbal means. The other 70% comes from BODY LANGUAGE: a stance, a hand gesture, a glare/stare/flash of the eyes. How 'bout a wink?

STEVE COOPER'S Bogey-look conveys, "tough and cool, the ultimate in macho."

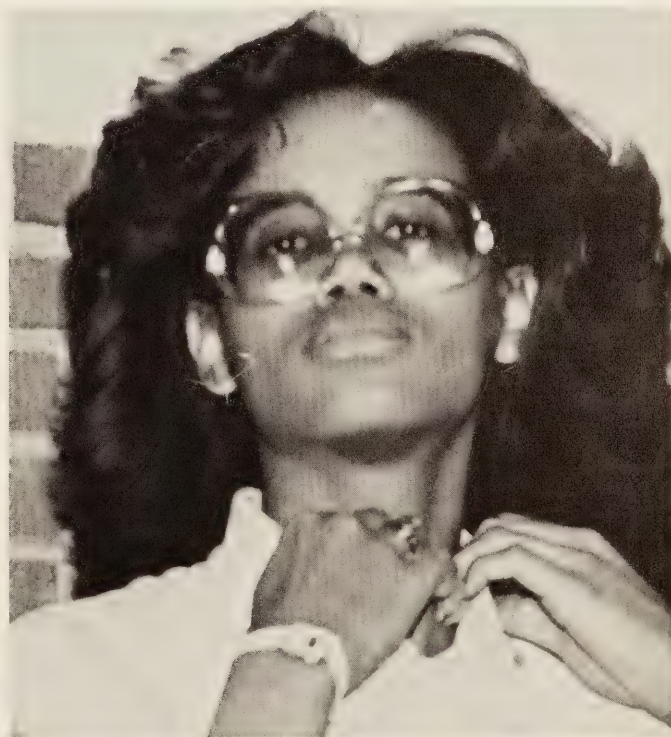

BRIANNA FAIRFAX and Betty Jo Wine's eyes say, "run those instructions past me one more time." A tuned-in Tracy Bagwell types on.

Service Center

1984 did not present itself as Orwell prophesized. But, 1984 did find this nation struggling to defeat the problems of deficit budgeting, poor housing, unemployment, substance abuse, etc.

The function of a school is not just to educate the minds of the students, but also to nurture their hearts, their compassionate spirits. Knowledge has no worth unless it is used to benefit humankind, to solve the problems of humankind.

So it was that the school system became the vanguard, the leadership, in guiding students to perform worthwhile services to solve school and community problems. For the school, students served as aides to various programs — from academics to athletics, from print media to video. For the community, students organized to form a S.A.D.D. Chapter (Students Against Drunk Driving), distributed food to needy families, and donated blood to the Red Cross. These were but a few efforts to promote positive citizenship. We served each other, and, in turn, we served ourselves.

THIS CAR, the result of a drunk driving accident, is parked on the circle — a reminder from the newly formed S.A.D.D. Chapter not to drink and drive.

Distributing DECA

DECA — Distributive Education Clubs of America. What exactly is "distributive education?" It is training for businesses that deal with distribution — marketing, retail & wholesale, finance, etc.

How is one trained? Aside from classroom instruction and on the job training, Jayem's DECA members operated a school store, took over Leggett's Department Store for a day, entered District Competition (congrats to Ricky Rouse and Ray Young), participated in a Leadership Development Seminar, and coordinated a Mini Fashion Show. To develop a sense of social responsibility, DECA members held a covered dish supper for their parents, sent Christmas Goody Bags to all faculty members, and organized a "Fall Fling" for senior citizens at the Community Center.

DECA was indeed about DISTRIBUTION. Action was the name of the game.

PATRICIA PALUMBO (captain of teen counseling) explains methods of conducting a session during an inservice meeting.

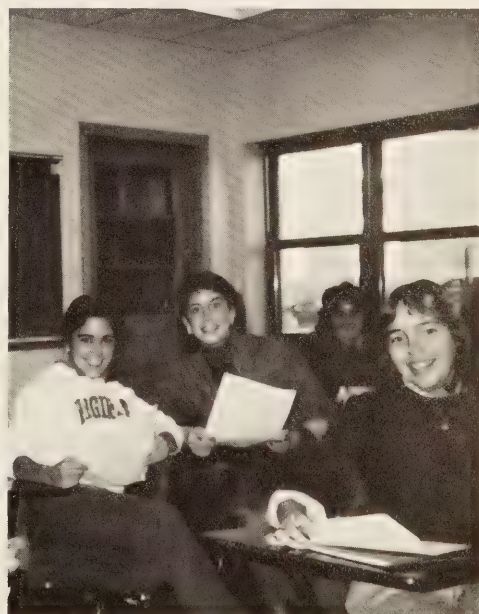

Special Teens

Teen Counseling is a program that allows Juniors and Seniors who have a C grade average or better to conduct strategies for the 5th and 6th graders at Walker-Grant Middle School. These strategies help the young students to communicate with each other and understand their feelings. Two or three Teen Counselors are assigned to a class by the sponsor and they go to that class once each month beginning in October and continuing throughout the whole school year. The Teen Counselors meet with their sponsor once a month at James Monroe to discuss how each of their sessions went. The Teen Counseling Program not only benefits the students at Walker-Grant, but it also benefits the Teen Counselors.

Picture or 1000 Words

"A picture is worth a thousand words." Who ever said that???? Sure, video surrounded us, but many persons still believed in "the power of the word." The journalists — including SPOTLIGHTERS — believed. The poets and fiction writers believed, i.e., domain of the BASILISK PEOPLE. And, though photographs consumed the bulk of this publication's space, the YEARBOOK STAFF still believed. For with each page, we grappled with word choice, we struggled with tenses, we fought over captions — because we believed in the power of these words you read right now. We wanted them to be as meaningful and memorable as the photographed face of a friend. We hoped that you would savor them and feel the joy of perception. If you can read this, thank a teacher.

Honorable Mention

na tion al (nash' nl), adj., of a nation; belonging to a whole nation

hon or (on' r), n., 1. glory, fame; renown; 2. credit for acting well; 3. great respect; 4.

acknowledgement or appreciation of a person's high character or position or something he has done with high courage or ability.

so ci e ty (s si' te), n. group of persons joined together for a common purpose or by a common interest.

It's not unusual to hear someone ask, "what's the National Honor Society?" And it's not unusual to hear someone reply, "oh, it's those smart kids." And, more often than not, that reply is usually colored with a tinge of sarcasm. If we think clearly on the definitions above, we perhaps can remove the sarcasm.

MERRI GLOVER, president of the National Honor Society, takes delight in dispatching refreshments at the NHS induction of new members.

First, these students "belong to the nation." They belong to US. Their honor brings US honor. Their accomplishments are OUR accomplishments. We should be proud of them. Proud of our nation.

Secondly, these students have their honor—their fame, glory, appreciation—for performing with courage and ability. That translates as HARD WORK.

Thirdly, they have joined together—to work, to inspire, to rededicate themselves to the improvement of life for all people. "Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service" is their motto.

SCHUYLER SWEET waits for his punch while Mrs. Glover pours it for him. Parents, teachers and students were invited.

Cheerleaders

TOP TO BOTTOM—Jeanna Ryckman, Michelle Habermann, Jeryl Rose, Susie VanEtten, Laura Fletcher, Lindsay Thompson, Shari McBane, Kirsten Noakes

The NEW WAVE clearly manifested itself in major areas—building, administrators, etc. But the change was less obvious in support areas. An example of such was evidenced in the cheering squads. In previous years there were two squads, varsity and junior varsity, who cheered all year for their respective teams. '83-'84 brought the selection of four squads: varsity & junior varsity for fall sports and for winter sports. This served many purposes. First, more students could participate—not only to cheer, but also to play sports in their non-cheering season. Secondly, it prevented “burn out.” After cheering forty or more games in previous years, sometimes the energies waned. Thirdly, with more time, academics would hopefully improve. Though this year's seniors were allowed to participate for both seasons, other students could only try out for the fall or the winter squad. Another requirement was a 2.0 grade average—higher than that recommended by state guidelines.

This new platooning system required excellence in leadership. Under the guidance of sponsor Ms. Amelia Jackson, captains and co-captains listed below served in this capacity.

Varsity Fall:

Captain—Lindsay Thompson
Co-Captain—Shari McBane

JV Fall:

Captain—Denise Parker
Co-Captain—Jennifer Tobin

Varsity Winter:

Captain—Lindsay Thompson
Co-Captains—Laura Fletcher & Kirsten Noakes

JV Winter:

Captain—Velisa Davidson
Co-Captains—Christy Brown & Carrie Hallberg

Fall award winners were Kelli Elliot, MVP, and Jeryl Rose, Incentive. (Winter award winners not available at press time.)

For the outstanding work of our four dynamic squads, we gave a rising, ringing cheer of thanks.

MS. CORDELL GIVES JOHN JOHNSON A smile and a hug.

THE TEACHERS AT JAYEM got together and gave Ms. Sais a surprise housewarming party to show their happiness and friendship for her good fortune.

MS. RAMER AND MS. CUNNINGHAM discuss the day's events after school.

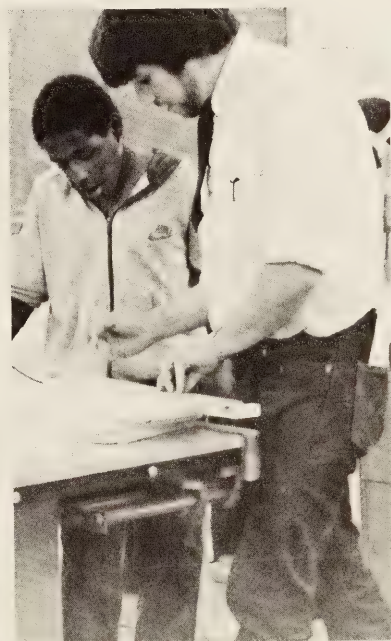

Before During and After School

Together, Jayem's faculty was a caring lot. They spent time and energy on their students (not just their students' papers and grades) and in helping each other.

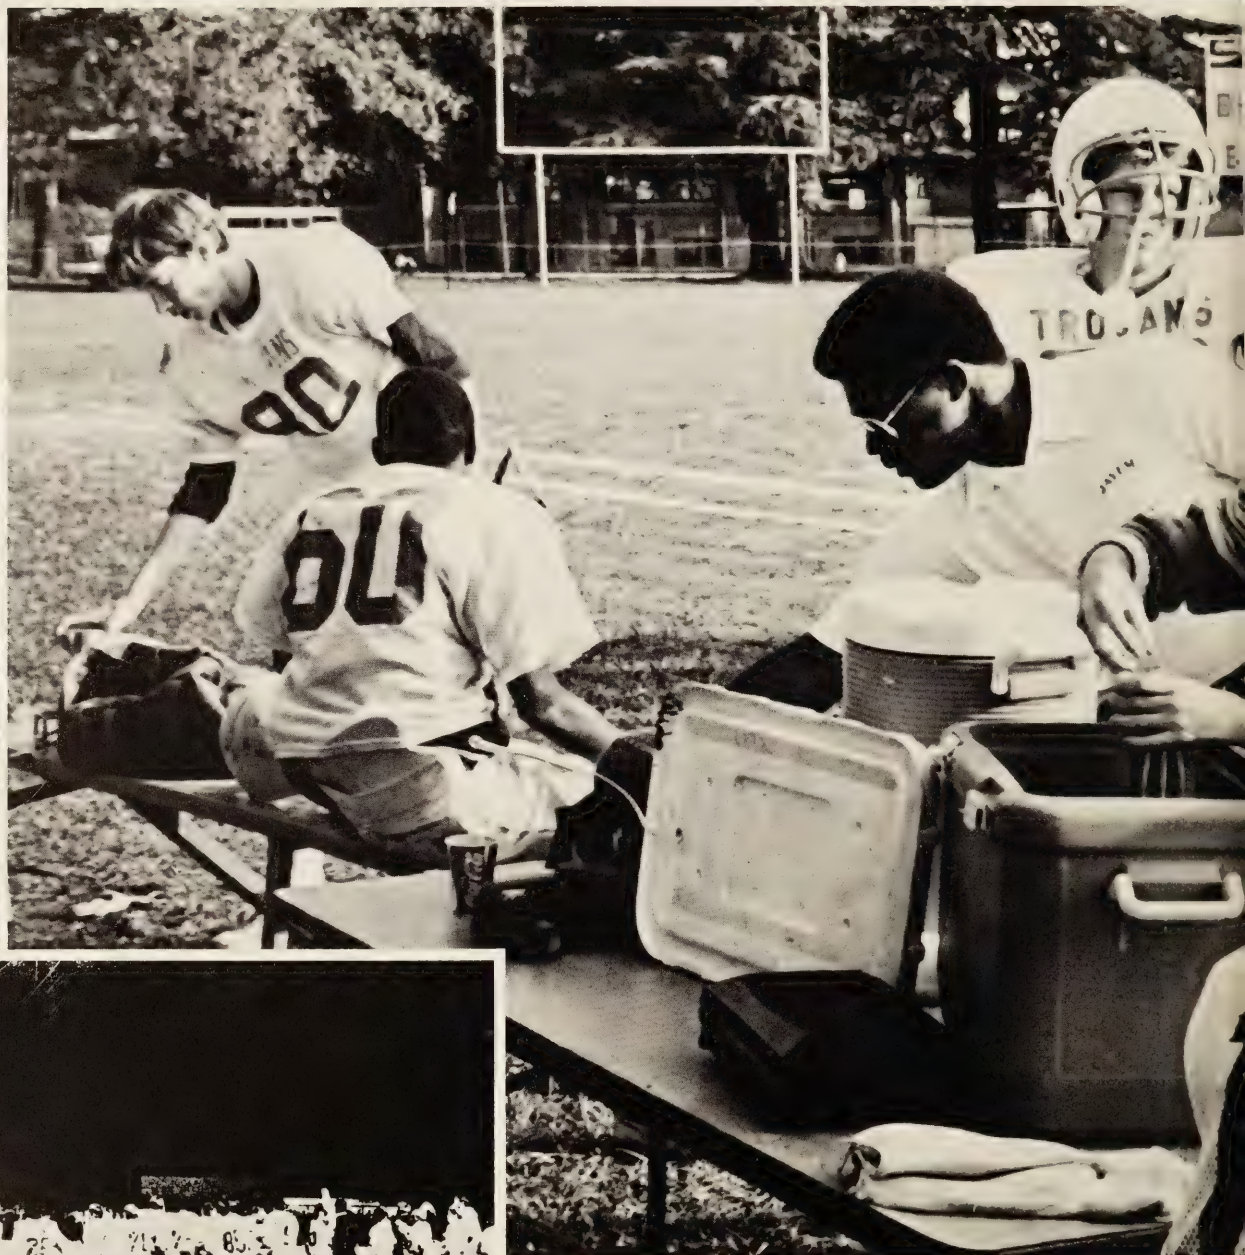

Teachers got up early for "extra help sessions" for that killer Cralle geometry test. A hug in the hall for confidence was always welcome. The classroom was not the only place to share and encourage: teachers rooted for "losing" moments and cheered at winning moments. It was share and share alike before, during, and after school.

MR. YOUNG SHOWS this student some of the finer points of carpentry.

Field Day

The 1983 Field Hockey season began in the steamy hot mornings of late August and prospered until the chilly dusk of late October. Their season was "fairly good," in opinion of one varsity member. The season began with 6 out of 7 games ending with the Jackets victorious. In the second half of their season the varsity team beat King George, twice, and beat Caroline and Spotsylvania once. The offense and defense had a difficult time working together in the beginning of the season but by the end they were coordinating their efforts quite well.

The Jayvee team faced a difficult problem at the start of the season due to very few experienced players to teach the rookies. But with the combined effects of Miss Bowman and Miss Ford, they had a fine season and should do quite well next year.

Grace Under Pressure

A gymnast must have stamina, flexibility, strength, poise, confidence, and perhaps above all, grace. Graceful turns and gyrations balanced the world of bars, beams, mats, vaults, and floor exercises in a gymnast's world. After years of being Battlefield District Champions, this grace was under pressure. A young team, plagued with some injured gymnasts, withstood the pressure to capture second in the District. Caroline McMillen, after braving an injury in the tournament, placed fourth in overall competition.

Steppin' Out

Spring time in Virginia was magnificent! . . . Fresh air and sunshine, the birds and bees and flowers! Athletically, students communed with nature. Spring turned the young sports men/women's fancies to tennis, baseball, softball, and track. What better way to stay healthy? Springtime was a time for steppin' out.

Eye of the Tiger

The theme from "Rocky III" was the theme song for the girls' team. When they charged onto the court and ran through their warm-up drills, "Eye of the Tiger" blared in the background. The song pumps the energy of the "underdog." The song challenges the imagination of the players to think of their opponents in their mind's eye as the prey, then they can capture the victory.

Last year's top scorers, Novella Jackson and Trina Lucas, had graduated and the team lacked height and depth; therefore, this year was a building year. The team was led by seniors Jean Watts (MVP) and La Faye Reid (Incentive Award Winner). Other Seniors were Patricia Johnson and Carolisa Brown. These veteran players inspired and encouraged the underclassmen. Next year promises an experienced team, for not only will the varsity be fed by upcoming Jayvee players, it will also be supported by the 8th grade team (pictured on other pages). Height and depth are on the horizon. Combined with experience and "the eye of the tiger," the Jackets should capture many victories.

"CONTI" FIRES one off while Betteen blocks out and Ramona has "rebound" on her mind.

SPEEDSTER Xylona "Conti" Smith leads the fast break.

COACH LANFORD supervises the pre-game warm-up.

The pre-season predictions placed the Jackets high in the Battlefield District. The defensive stinger was honed. The offensive line followed the Redskin's lead and were even dubbed the "HOGS" (with one "Piglet"). The field leader quarterback, Robert Watts, was seasoned at the position. Running back Gary Richardson seemed to have it all—quickness, speed, ability to cut.

Initially it all "came together" for the team. The NEW WAVE was infusive. The Jackets' surge was powerful. But . . . not far into the season. Gary broke his toe and never completely recovered. Soon after, we encountered the strongest opponent in the state—the champion Courtland Cougars. The pre-season predictions seemed to fade and momentarily our hopes were dashed.

Yet, the old adage prevailed: "it's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game." And . . . we played with our total collective being. 100%—and then some. We played with determination of Chris Sullivan, this year's Tuffy Hicks Award recipient. We played with the prowess of 1st string All-Area team members Anthony Washington, Zivan Smith, Gary Richardson, and Ricky Bumbrey. Then were 2nd stringers Robert Watts, Chris Mills, Phil King, Donald Parker, Richmond McDaniel, and Dennis Johnson Award recipient Tim Margrave. The fire of MVP Lance Mitchell ignited them all.

We emerged victorious! A winning season. We build and grow strong and . . . can't wait until 84-85.

A Rose By Any Other Name

Are Jackets Trojans or are Trojans Jackets? The move of the 8th graders to Jayem brought an unforeseen dilemma in the sports arena. In previous years, 8th graders played as the Walker-Grant Trojans. This year, they played as the James Monroe . . . "TROJANS??" Although competing under the school's banner, they still had the "TROJAN" label on their uniforms. But, as with all situations in their new environment, adjustment came rather easily. The girls' basketball team and boys' football team had growing seasons with new coaches at the helm. Their respective records were 3-7 and 4-2. The boys' basketball team, coached by Walker-Grant teacher Mr. Suduth, posted JAYEM'S BEST RECORD OF THE YEAR with 9 and 1. For sure "TROJANS" are JACKETS!

Sports Galore

Healthy competition — that's what high school sports are all about. But many students would not have had an opportunity to compete (let's face it, we aren't all "great") . . . were it not for INTRAMURALS.

The basketball intramurals often pitted girls against the guys and age against youth. The UNDER-DOGS (Mr. Durtan, Mr. Griffin, and several young ladies) had a record of 0-and-"whatever," but had more fun than any bunch. The weightlifting HOGS played the pink-shirted SCHOOLBOYS. BABY-DOLLS (girl varsity players) matched talents with the SMURFS. ICT, INDUSTRIAL ARTS, and THE TENNIS TEAM rounded out the league. For the individual athlete, ping-pong provided the vehicle for healthy competition.

FACES

The Class of 1985

ACCORDING TO Holly Parker, the atmosphere of the cafeteria is better suited for studying than eating.

SEE WHAT SCHOOL lunches can do to you! Just take a look at Michele Skinner and Tim Margrave.

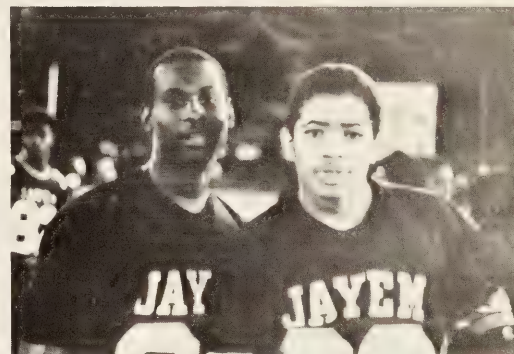

CARLO SHOVER MAKES sure she keeps a close eye on those she admires.

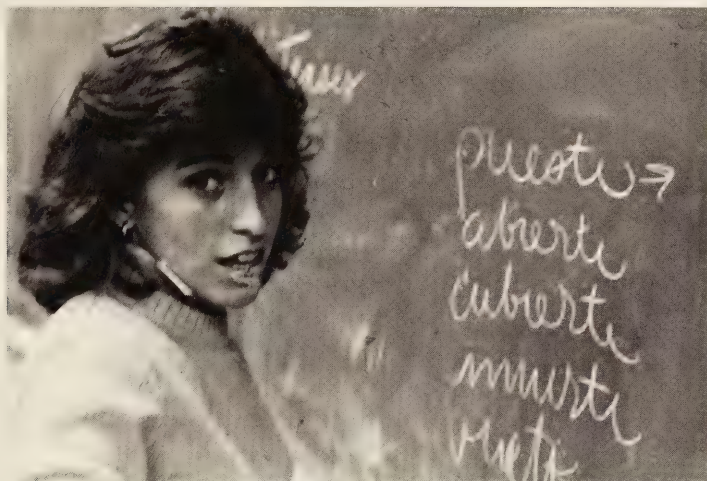

EYEING DAVID ELLIS, this under classman obviously looks up to him.

NOT KNOWING WHAT 2 and 3 make, Wendy Wolfert refers to her dependable fingers.

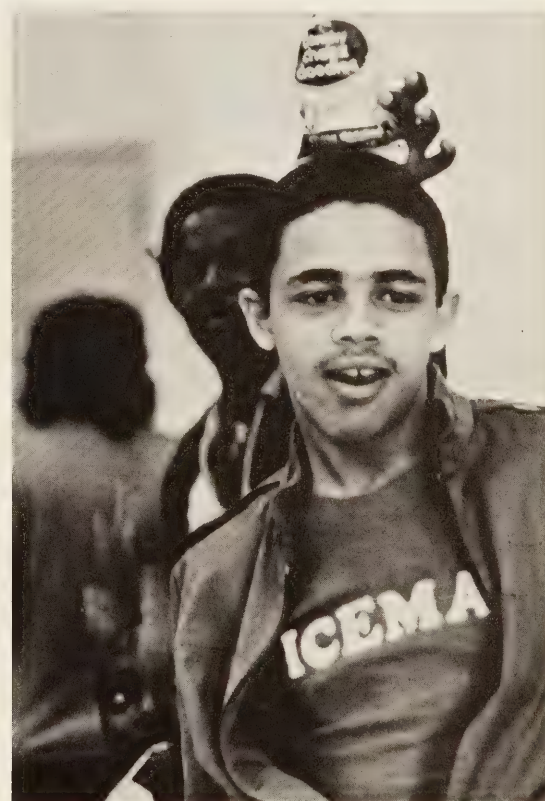

ANTHONY WASHINGTON AND Gary Boxley support the J. V. football team.

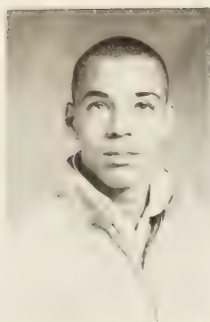

PREGUNTAS? asks Michele Habermann while giving a lesson in Spanish.

BARBARA SAWIN'S EYES show her true feelings towards the cameraman.

BYRON "ICEMAN" LEWIS is real cool with his pose, but Reggie Silver kind of ruins it with his Cheeze-Doodles bag.

Teacher's Pets

MS. CUNNINGHAM BEAMS with pride as her son Gene, helps sell basketball tickets.

Ask most parents why they work so hard and they'll probably reply, "for my children." Teachers were no different except — all children were their children. Ofttimes the teachers' jobs required them to "bring their children in tow." Pictures here — around and about the school — reflected this. Sometimes it was really laborious (for the child as well as parent), but always it was a labor of love.

Then there were those parents on our staff whose children were always with them. Did you ever wonder how it felt to have your parents near you all day every day? There were many students in that situation. Ask Barbara Cuddy or Brian Hawthorne, Amy Sokol or Debra Nichols, Juno Pitchford or John Johnson, Sean Jordan or Sara Lanford, Alice Merchant or DeDe Powell, Bill or Ann Woodward what it is like. It's difficult — to say the least.

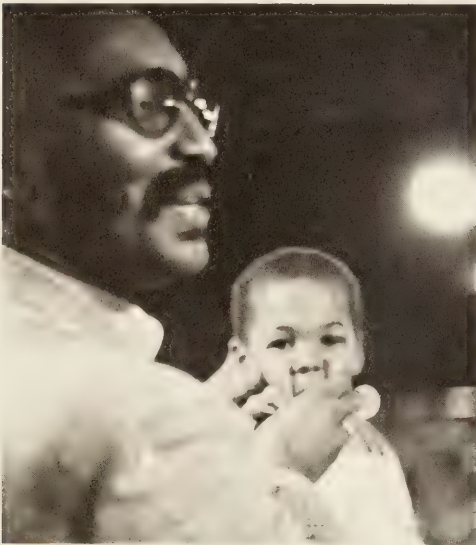

There were other members of our faculty whose children are too old/young for Jayem or who have no children. But there is still a common denominator. The bottom line is that IF ONE IS AN EDUCATOR, ONE MUST LOVE CHILDREN. The students of James Monroe were the faculty's NEW WAVE, the faculty's FUTURE.

MR. BURCH AND HIS SON, are totally absorbed (though seemingly not enthused) in a Jayem basketball game.

MR. GRIFFIN HOLDS HIS son, R.C., still for a photo.

JAYEM'S PEP RALLY IS ATTENDED by three Hugh Mercer scholars, Bronwen Clark, Julie Herring and Bevan Clark. They belong to Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Herring.

Human-Kind

Did you ever wonder who chops the onions? Hauls the ice? Sells the raffle tickets, pennants, painter's hats, cups? Without the support of parent/community groups, many school activities would have suffered greatly. There would have been no weight room. No band trip to Hershey, Pennsylvania. No quantity of updated books in the library. The services provided by these groups often went unnoticed by the student body, and, therefore, often received no thanks. To this wonderful community coalition, we say, "THANK YOU!"

Dr. Manolis and Dr. Glover, professors at Mary Washington College and proud fathers of NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY members help out at the induction of new National Honor Members.

MS. SMITH, a former librarian, is a "friend of the library."

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT is a major success at James Monroe. Mrs. Riley and others help out with Athletic Boosters, Band Boosters and other involvement groups.

MS. ANDREWS and Ms. Kornburg help to quench the thirsts of enthusiastic fans at the football game.

MS. BAGWELL, whose son Jay plays the Tuba in the band, looks over the merchandise at the band boosters' yard sale.

SECRETARY MRS. LAUGHMAN, President Mr. Brennan and Treasurer Mrs. Brennan, voice their support for the band trip to Hershey, Pennsylvania.

MR. PEYTON shows his support for Jayem by tackling a sticky chore.

I'll Be Watching You.

"... Then the face of Big Brother faded away again, and instead the three slogans of the Party stood out in bold capitals:

WAR IS PEACE
FREEDOM IS SLAVERY
IGNORANCE IS STRENGTH!"

George Orwell's 1984, published in 1949, rendered an alarming prophesy of things to come. He confronted us with "the danger of a society of automatons who have lost every trace of individuality, of love, of critical thought." But ... to be forewarned is to be armed. Although our NEW WAVE is high tech and uses automation, it treasures the INDIVIDUAL, propagates LOVE, and safeguards the CRITICAL MIND.

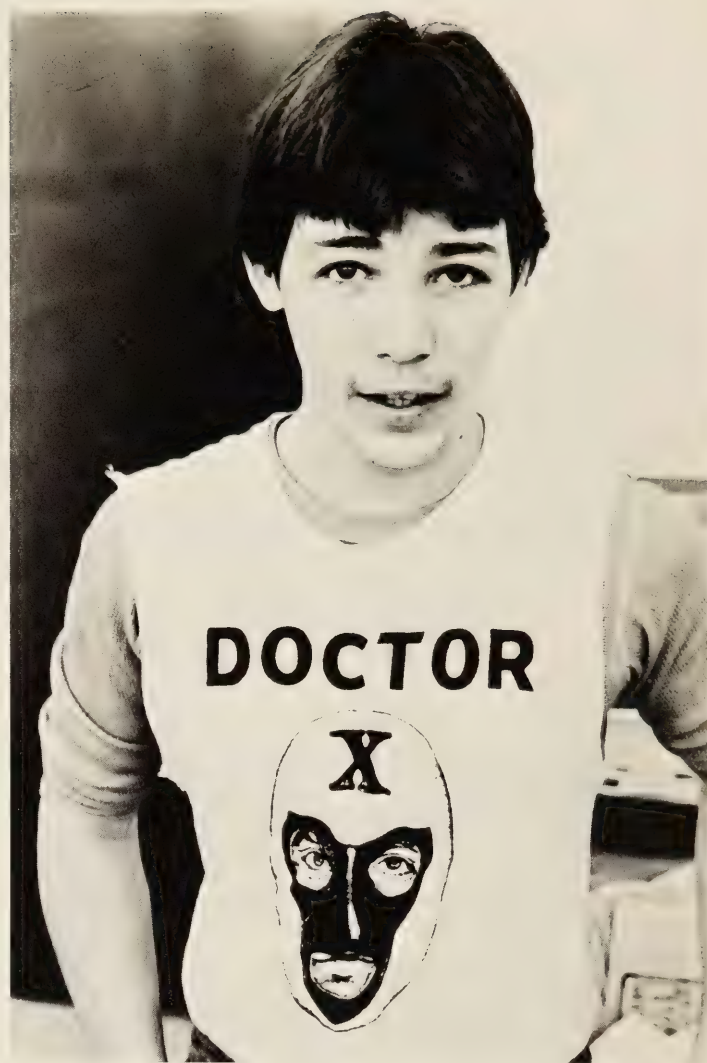

A wave was both a hello and a goodbye, a beginning and an end. Like the ins and outs of life, the essentials came in blacks and whites, good and bad, smiles and tears, but always somebody watched and helped, whether they be friend, teacher, or parent. A song of 1983-84 said it all:

Every breath you take,
Every move you make,
Every vow you break,
Every claim you stake,
I'll be watching you ..."
